“Points of Happiness”: The end of the queue?

LOYALTY AWARDS '18 & '19
AGENCY OF THE YEAR

WHAT ACCESSORIZE HAS TO SAY

«In an uncertain market, we felt that an inclusive and technologically advanced customer loyalty program will help to protect the company from imponderable factors, and will be an essential tool for our salespeople in the shops so they can serve more fully our customers.

Accessorize is a very popular brand that has experienced great acceptance by the Greek and Cypriot audience for about 15 years. Our customers have become accustomed to the continuous renewal of our products, and our stores and a loyalty program dedicated to them was expected for a long time. The truth is that this need has been recognized over many years, but what we were looking for a partner that could provide technologically advanced solutions, rather than a simple reward system. For all the things there is a right timing, and we believe that even delayed, we managed, in cooperation with QIVOS, to create an easy-to-use and attractive loyalty program. Moreover, especially in recent years, retail companies are not just competing to maintain their market position with similar companies, but also with companies from different retail sectors. Competitiveness has been widened, and to continue to exist in the market in such demanding times, we must be constantly redefined and evolved.

Through our partnership with QIVOS, we have more visibility to the multiple factors that have an impact on our sales, and we believe that the entire organization, has acquired a new, more detailed consciousness around sales, which is the purpose of our work. Our approach to everything we do is the entire organization to encompass commitment, starting from the administration. As a result, such an important and large project in order to have long-term success requires time and energy of the people involved in its design. At the same time, it is a program which benefits will be seen in long terms, so it is not possible to expect excitement from the first year. In conclusion, our cooperation with QIVOS needs time, structured and frequent communication in both technical and marketing level to perceive visible results. We believe that QIVOS is a company specializing in this service offering authentic interest for the final product.”

WHAT ACCESSORIZE NEEDED

Accessorize needed to reward the existing customers for their love, trust and constant preference of Accessorize products and attract new ones, who will enhance the growth of the business. Accessorize was looking for an easy to use and attractive loyalty program that will not only satisfy the needs of customers, but also would measure their response and sales results.

THE CHALLENGES

There were two major challenges: the limited space of the brand's physical stores and the need for simple, yet effective loyalty program processes that will boost engagement and build brand loyalty.
